Pinellas County Health Program

Your first stop for health care

Trips to the emergency room for routine medical care are a thing of the past.

The Pinellas County Health Program is the place you can go for primary care and other medical services.

The Pinellas County Health Program provides quality health care services for uninsured residents ages 18 to 64 who are not eligible for Medicaid, Medicare or other health programs and have an income at or below 100 percent of the Federal Poverty Level. Participants are served in a medical home at one of five participating Florida Health Department of Pinellas County locations, or The Turley Family Health Center.
